

Junior Analyst

NYSC placement, one to two corps members

Work alongside our consultants on live healthcare strategy, turnaround, and workforce engagements across Nigeria. A serving year built to teach you how real advisory work is done, not to fetch and file.

Role: Junior Analyst (Corps Member, NYSC)

Team: Consult for Africa, Advisory

Location: Lagos, hybrid

Reports to: Founding Partner and senior consultants

About Consult for Africa

Consult for Africa (C4A) is a healthcare transformation partner. We work with hospitals, clinics, and health ventures across Nigeria on strategy, operational turnaround, governance, and growth. Our work also runs through two platforms we build and operate: CadreHealth, a healthcare workforce marketplace, and Maarova, a leadership assessment and coaching service.

You would sit close to that work. On any given week our consultants might be diagnosing why a paediatric centre is losing margin, structuring a multi-sector group under new tax rules, or standing up a governance model for a hospital board. As a junior analyst you help make that work happen.

The role

This is a hands-on analyst seat, not a shadowing internship. You will own real pieces of live engagements under close supervision, and your output will reach clients. The role suits a sharp, curious recent graduate serving their NYSC year who wants to learn how strategy and operations work is actually delivered.

What you would do

- Desk research on healthcare markets, competitors, regulation, and clinical models, turned into clear, usable briefs.
- Build and clean datasets, and support financial models and pricing work in Excel and Google Sheets.
- Draft sections of proposals, decks, and reports, and help shape them into the C4A house style.
- Sit in on client calls, capture the discussion, and turn notes into structured synthesis and action lists.
- Support product work on CadreHealth and Maarova, including surveys, candidate data, and analysis of responses.
- Keep project trackers, files, and follow-ups tidy so nothing slips.

Who we are looking for

We care more about how you think than what you studied. Graduates of medicine, the sciences, economics, business, engineering, and the social sciences are all welcome to apply.

Essential

- A recent graduate currently serving, or about to begin, the NYSC year, and posted to Lagos.
- Strong analytical thinking: you can break a messy problem into parts and reason it through.
- Clear, precise writing in English.
- Comfortable with spreadsheets and slides, and quick to learn new tools.
- Organised, reliable, and careful with detail.
- Discreet and trustworthy with confidential client information.

A plus

- Genuine interest in healthcare, business, or public policy in Africa.
- Any exposure to data analysis, research, or financial modelling.
- Comfort drafting and designing in Google Workspace or similar.

What you would gain

- Direct exposure to real consulting across healthcare, workforce, and multi-sector strategy, at a pace you will not get in most first roles.
- Close mentorship from the founding partner and senior consultants, with honest feedback on your work.
- A portfolio of substantial work you can point to after your service year.
- A serious look at a full-time analyst role for those who excel.

Terms

Item	Detail
Engagement	NYSC Place of Primary Assignment (PPA), for the service year
Positions	One to two corps members
Location	Lagos, hybrid (mix of in-person and remote)
Stipend	A monthly stipend, in addition to the NYSC federal allowance
Start	Aligned to your service year and current batch

How to apply

Apply online. The form takes about ten minutes: your details, your degree and NYSC status, your CV, and a short note (250 to 500 words) on why this role interests you and one problem you have enjoyed thinking through. No cover letter to a hidden inbox, and applications are reviewed on a rolling basis.

Apply at consultforafrica.com/careers/apply?track=NYSC

Select the NYSC Corper track when the form opens. You will hear from us within five business days.

Consult for Africa Healthcare transformation partner

hello@consultforafrica.com / +234 913 813 8553 / consultforafrica.com

Lagos and Abuja, Nigeria